

GALLERY RESOURCES ADDS FRESH NEW TALENT TO THE TEAM

Gloucestershire-based specialist marketing and creative recruiter, Gallery Resources, has been popping the champagne corks yet again this year. Currently the team is celebrating their ten year anniversary and, to mark this impressive milestone, they are set to expand the business even further following the announcement of two new appointments.

The newest recruit is Heather Ray (23), who will perform the role of Researcher/Assistant Consultant. Heather graduated last year with a degree in Sociology and Psychology at the University of Gloucestershire. Whilst studying Heather worked at a large financial company, but decided that she wanted her career to be more people focused, hence her move into recruitment.

Heather is joined by fellow Researcher/Assistant Consultant, Kelly Porter (25). Kelly studied for her Media and Communications degree at UCE and, after graduating, spent time working in London. After working as a Researcher in TV, Kelly decided to return to her home town of Stonehouse and set about finding a role where she could utilise the skills she gained within the television industry.

“Both women have excellent people skills and industry experiences which will help them forge an exciting recruitment career with us. Kelly and Heather are keen to progress within the industry and I have no doubt that we have two top consultants in the making,” said Gallery Resources director Joanne Snell.

For the last ten years Gallery Resources has been placing candidates into marketing, communications, creative and studio roles, including a broad range of specialist disciplines related to these areas.

From their base in Gloucestershire, Gallery Resources service clients throughout the country with a strong reputation in the South West, South Wales and the M4 corridor/ London and the Midlands.
